

1 ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

2 A device that simulates the presence of a high price stair tread end to provide the
3 appearance of a full stair tread extending outwardly beneath a balustrade's bottom rail, when
4 properly installed, which device has a generally horizontal first upper member, and a generally
5 vertical second lower member, the lower member being disposed within a rear surface recess of 6 the upper member, the upper member being milled on at least one vertical surface.

7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28
29
30
31
32
33